

June 21st and 22nd, at Atlantic City (NJ) Convention Center

The Police Security Expo is one of the nations largest showcase of Goods, Products & Services in all price ranges, designed for law enforcement and security personnel wether they are in government, safety, homeland security positions or first-responders. This Expo has been taking place since 1987. Products range from flashlights and common items like uniforms to forcible entry tools, weapons, crime scene investigation products, bullet proof vests and all manner of surveillance products and more. This year more than 750 exhibits are scheduled for display. Thousands are expected to attend, so it is suggested you contact them early if you want to have a chance to see everything there is to see. Visit their website at www.police-security.com for details and more information.