

This years Electronic Warfare convention will be held in Berlin, Germany at the Estrel Hotel and Convention Center. This convention provides attendees and exhibitors an opportunity to update information on current and emerging Electronic Warfare technologies and applications. Land, marine and maritime, and air environments will be covered, including those capabilities being specified, introduced and applied to asymmetric warfare.

Exhibitors at this years convention will include a varied lot of production and manufacturing spheres including adhesive, test and measurement, components and inspection equipment, infrared testing, electrical manufacturing, electro-mechanical assemblies, metal stamping equipment and IC equipment and components.